AUTHORITY:

Article V, Section 2 of the Constitution of the State of Florida

DESCRIPTION:

Under the Florida Constitution, citizens whose rights and liberties have been determined by trial courts and state agencies have a guaranteed right of appellate review. The purpose of Florida's district courts of appeal is to provide the opportunity for this review of decisions of lower tribunals by multi-judge panels. In most cases this review is final. District courts of appeal correct harmful errors and ensure that decisions are consistent with our rights and liberties. This process contributes to the development, clarity, and consistency of the law. A review of decisions by trial courts and state agencies is conducted by a panel of at least three district court judges, as required by Article V, Section 4(a) of the Constitution of the State of Florida. Judges are assisted by law clerks and other court personnel in this process. Following review of a case, the court's decision may be accompanied by an opinion that discusses the legal issues and the court's analysis of the case. The district courts' opinions provide the public, other courts, and the legal community with a body of law, thereby enhancing understanding of the courts' work and providing a level of stability and predictability that allows Florida's citizens to conduct their business and personal affairs in accordance with the law of our state. NOTE: This is a new budget entity/service that rolls up 22100100, 22100200, 22100300, 22100400, and 22100500. This roll up is effected to support the Legislatures's roll up of performance measures. As a result, performance measures can now be directly linked to activities and associated dollars.
